As an individual who has had dealings with the WCB I have found their approach to the worker is as of the 1950s. There is virtually no rehabilitation process. In my case it was infinitesimal. It consisted of a man  taking me around to hunt for jobs and when it wasn't productive, they discontinued. Also the Neurosis panel should be looked at to provide continuing care so all ambition after doesn't die. Not only did the WCB fail in my case, but they also denied me CPP based on fact I hadn't worked four out of 5 years.(the govt.) No wonder the suicide rate is high among people who deal with the Board. The WCB is a business and not for the weak or injured. You have to be strong and have a hide very thick to put up with the coolness of the Board.

Thank you
